Anderson Outdoor Athletic Complex includes Mangeldorf Field, a turf football field surrounded by a six-lane synthetic track, that was recently renovated with new bleachers and lights to support the additional of football as a varsity sport in the fall of 2012. Also new in 2012, the $4.4 million Metz Field House features state-of-the-art training rooms, locker rooms, and team meeting rooms. Tambar Field, the new home of Cougar baseball, is nearby.

McHale Hall

is a traditional dormitory-style residence hall, housing mostly first-year students in six-roomed rooms that include a large closet, ample drawer space and a sink. The Fireside Lounge is a popular hangout offering a big screen TV and a full kitchen.

Anderson Sports and Health Center is the university’s home for varsity and recreational sports, and the campus Health and Wellness Center. Built in 1993, the 78,000-square-foot facility includes a six-lane NCAA competitive pool, a fitness floor and synthetic track, an aerobics and dance studio, and a new renovated fitness center. The lower level offers locker rooms, a sports injury center and three racquetball courts.

Mike and Tina MacDowell Hall

The newest residence facility on campus, this building was completed in summer 2012 and houses over 100 students in suite-style living. It also features two classrooms on the first floor.

Mary Kline Beavenville Library

offers stacks for 75,000 volumes, study carrels, group study rooms and a video viewing room. It offers the Alden Trust Computer Teaching Laboratory, a high-tech classroom with a SMART Symposium and the Data Search Lab, plus microfilm readers and copy machines. The Catherine Evans McGowan Room, on the third floor, offers conference and meeting space, and one of the best views of the campus.

Geraldine Ruth Daley Anderson Bell Tower If you’re at the main entrance to the Beavenville Library, you’re just about done with your tour. You should see the Geraldine Ruth Daley Anderson Bell Tower, with its carillon bell system. No, it may even hear the bells playing. You can return to Mercy Hall’s main lobby by using the Tower entrance and going up the stairs.

McGehee Field

is a newly surfaced turf field that in 2012 became the venue for men’s and women’s soccer, men’s and women’s lacrosse and field hockey. The Cougars softball diamond is nearby.

Townhouses

complex offers a community setting for upper classmen in residential units that each offer three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a common living room and full kitchen, complete with patio.

Entrance Arch

was built circa 1933 and is adorned by two unique cupolas. The arch was chosen as the school’s logo when Misericordia achieved university status in 2007.

Lower Campus

Facilities Building

houses the University’s maintenance staff, Print Shop, and the Marketing Department’s creative services team.

Rasmussen House/Resor Hall was a former broom factory at 181 Lake St., and since 2000, it offers bedrooms, a kitchen and community living space for single mothers and their children participating in the Women with Children Program.

President’s House

at 130 Lake St. has been home to Misericordia leaders since the early 1940s and features spacious rooms, mahogany paneling and is surrounded by lovely gardens.

Off campus houses are managed by Residence Life staff at 120 and 179 Lake Street, providing a comfortable alternative to dorm style living. Usually home to upper class students, they offer spacious living quarters and the full amenities of a typical household.

John J. Passan Hall

at 100 Lake St. is the former headquarters of Commonwealth Telephone Company. Opened in 2010, the renovation renovated to accommodate upperclassmen and graduate students, most of whom are health science students living classes in nearby Passan Hall. It includes single, double, and triple rooms, plus a quad with a walk-out balcony. A shuttle service provides transportation to and from the upper campus.

Anderson Outdoor Athletic Complex includes Mangeldorf Field, a turf football field surrounded by a six-lane synthetic track, that was recently renovated with new bleachers and lights to support the additional of football as a varsity sport in the fall of 2012. Also new in 2012, the $4.4 million Metz Field House features state-of-the-art training rooms, locker rooms, and team meeting rooms. Tambar Field, the new home of Cougar baseball, is nearby.

McHale Hall

is a traditional dormitory-style residence hall, housing mostly first-year students in six-roomed rooms that include a large closet, ample drawer space and a sink. The Fireside Lounge is a popular hangout offering a big screen TV and a full kitchen.

Anderson Sports and Health Center is the university’s home for varsity and recreational sports, and the campus Health and Wellness Center. Built in 1993, the 78,000-square-foot facility includes a six-lane NCAA competitive pool, a fitness floor and synthetic track, an aerobics and dance studio, and a new renovated fitness center. The lower level offers locker rooms, a sports injury center and three racquetball courts.

Mike and Tina MacDowell Hall

The newest residence facility on campus, this building was completed in summer 2012 and houses over 100 students in suite-style living. It also features two classrooms on the first floor.

Mary Kline Beavenville Library

offers stacks for 75,000 volumes, study carrels, group study rooms and a video viewing room. It offers the Alden Trust Computer Teaching Laboratory, a high-tech classroom with a SMART Symposium and the Data Search Lab, plus microfilm readers and copy machines. The Catherine Evans McGowan Room, on the third floor, offers conference and meeting space, and one of the best views of the campus.

Geraldine Ruth Daley Anderson Bell Tower If you’re at the main entrance to the Beavenville Library, you’re just about done with your tour. You should see the Geraldine Ruth Daley Anderson Bell Tower, with its carillon bell system. No, it may even hear the bells playing. You can return to Mercy Hall’s main lobby by using the Tower entrance and going up the stairs.

McGehee Field

is a newly surfaced turf field that in 2012 became the venue for men’s and women’s soccer, men’s and women’s lacrosse and field hockey. The Cougars softball diamond is nearby.

Townhouses

complex offers a community setting for upper classmen in residential units that each offer three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a common living room and full kitchen, complete with patio.

Entrance Arch

was built circa 1933 and is adorned by two unique cupolas. The arch was chosen as the school’s logo when Misericordia achieved university status in 2007.